Description: This work describes a travel, the one I do from the house I was born near Grosseto to Milan, where I have been living for years.
"Faccio un giro e torno" is composed by a plaster cast of my body covered by the objects that symbolize and represent what remain in my mind during this car travel, and of the two roads I cross alternatively: the one from Siena-Bologna-Milano and the one from Pisa-Genova-Milano.
In this way it makes a circle: from feet to head and head to feet, Milan in the head and my home on the feet.
Eventually I invite the spectator to move the car [the only moving object] on these roads, because there is a micro camera inside, connected to a monitor, he can sightsee the voyage between the landscape and me on.
